Scenario Description:

On April 6, 1970 four CHP officers, the oldest of whom was only 24 years old, were killed in a four-and-one-half-minute shootout north of Los Angeles, near Santa Clarita.

The second CHP vehicle with officers James Pence and George Alleyn arrived, and with guns drawn they attempted to protect themselves as well as their fellow officers. A brief shootout left a third officer dead, with the fourth pinned down behind his vehicle. Davis fled to the hills, while Twinning casually approached the pinned-down officer and killed him with a single gunshot to the head.
